Set Sail on an Artistic Adventure! Register Now for Summer “Art Kids” Classes at St. Clement’s Island Museum with local artist Ellen Duke Wilson

LEONARDTOWN, MD – Young artists are invited to join local artist and instructor, Ms. Ellen Duke Wilson, this summer to explore fine arts through St. Clement’s Island Museum’s Art Kids classes. Young artists will expand their understanding of art and history while learning to sketch, paint, and sculpt. Students will also reflect on how making art can impact society in a positive way for future generations.

“We are so grateful to have the very talented Ms. Wilson back to teach these popular classes,” says Christina Barbour, Site Manager at St. Clement’s Island Museum. “The children have loved coming to each class here at the museum and learning something new in a fun, creative way.”

At the end of each session, all participants create an individualized work of art to share with their family and community. These classes are geared towards children ages 7 to 17. Preregistration is required and the cost is $5 per child. All materials are provided; however, participants are asked to bring a light snack. Parents are encouraged to sign up soon as slots fill up quickly.

This year’s theme is “Explore Sunken Ships and Sea Creatures with Pencils and Paint.” The 2024 class schedule is as follows (12 p.m. to 3 p.m. each day):

- June 18, 19, 20: Drawing: Plotting the Course
- July 9, 10, 11: Painting: Seascapes
- July 23, 24, 25: Sculpting: Emerging Sea Creatures
- August 6, 7, 8: Collage: Piecing Together Clues from the Past

Each class consists of three sessions in which participants will create a work of art to share in an exhibit opening on August 17, 2024, at Children’s Day at St. Clement’s Island Museum.
