Register Now for Summer “Art Kids” Classes at St. Clement’s Island Museum

LEONARDTOWN, MD – Young artists are invited to explore fine arts this summer through St. Clement’s Island Museum’s “Art Kids” class series. Participants will experiment with different forms of art, including drawing, painting, simple weaving, sculpting, and other hands-on projects. Students will also reflect on how creating art can positively impact society for future generations.

This program encourages young artists to try new materials, express their creativity, and enjoy the process of making art in a welcoming and supportive environment. At the end of each session, participants will have their own unique piece of artwork to take home and share with family and friends.

Preregistration is required, and the cost is $7 per child (ages 7–14 only). All materials are provided; however, participants are asked to bring a light snack. Parents are encouraged to sign up soon, as slots fill quickly.

Sessions will be offered August 24–27, 2026, and September 14–17, 2026.

For more information or to sign up, please email Olivia Flack with the Museum Division at Olivia.Flack@stmaryscountymd.gov.

About the St. Mary’s County Museum Division

The St. Mary’s County Museum Division was established by the Commissioners of St. Mary’s County to collect, preserve, research, and interpret the historic sites and artifacts which illustrate the natural and cultural histories of St. Mary’s County and the Potomac River. These sites include St. Clement’s Island Museum, Piney Point Lighthouse Museum, the Old Jail Museum, and the Drayden African American Schoolhouse. With this as its charter, the Museum Division serves as a resource, liaison, and community advocate for all St. Mary’s County public and private cultural assets.
